Bienvenidos a MIP CANCUN 2026

La industria del entretenimiento está cambiando: evolucionan las formas de crear, financiar, producir, distribuir y descubrir contenidos, y también se amplía el grupo de profesionales que participa en cada etapa.

El contenido sigue siendo el centro de nuestro negocio, pero hoy su recorrido conecta a compradores, distribuidores, productores, estudios y plataformas con marcas, agencias, creadores, empresas digitales y nuevos socios financieros y tecnológicos. Cada uno aporta una perspectiva diferente y nuevas posibilidades de colaboración.

El propósito de MIP CANCUN es reunir a esta comunidad en un espacio donde pueda compartir ideas, crear conexiones relevantes y desarrollar nuevas oportunidades de negocio. Seguimos apostando por lo que mejor nos define: la cercanía, las reuniones útiles y las conversaciones que ayudan a avanzar.

Las marcas entran en la conversación

Este año damos un paso importante con BrandStory Hub, desarrollado junto con Roadmap y Cave76. Su programa conecta marcas, agencias, productores, creadores y plataformas para explorar cómo las alianzas con el sector del entretenimiento pueden dar lugar a nuevas ideas, proyectos y modelos de negocio.

La sesión inaugural, “Beyond the Deal: Turning Brands into Entertainment Partners”, reunirá a ejecutivos de Publicis, Nestlé y Heineken para compartir su experiencia y explicar qué buscan las marcas en sus colaboraciones con la industria.

Entre las novedades del programa destaca “BrandFront: What Brands Want Next”, un formato en el que las marcas serán las protagonistas del escenario. Una a una, compartirán qué buscan, qué las inspira y qué tipo de historias, ideas y colaboraciones quieren explorar. Será una oportunidad para que productores, creadores, agencias y otros profesionales conozcan sus prioridades y descubran posibles puntos de encuentro.

Nuevas oportunidades para todo el ecosistema

La agenda de MIP CANCUN también aborda los cambios en las audiencias y en los modelos de negocio. El Beyond Streaming Summit explorará temas como el video social, las plataformas digitales, los contenidos verticales, los microdramas y la monetización.

El Co-Production Market conectará a productores con plataformas, comisionados y otros socios potenciales a través de reuniones, sesiones de Bootcamp y masterclasses. El Scripted Pitch dará visibilidad a cinco proyectos seleccionados de distintos territorios y los acercará a profesionales de la industria internacional. Y el Leadership Summit ofrecerá a los principales responsables del sector un espacio para conversar sobre el futuro del desarrollo, la financiación y la monetización de la propiedad intelectual.

Estas iniciativas reflejan una industria en la que las oportunidades pueden surgir en distintos puntos de la cadena de valor: desde la creación y el desarrollo de una idea hasta su financiación, producción, distribución y conexión con las audiencias.

Una comunidad que sigue creciendo

MIP CANCUN se enriquece cada año con nuevas voces y perspectivas. En esta edición recibimos, entre otros participantes internacionales, una delegación japonesa que representa a diez cadenas de televisión. Nos alegra dar la bienvenida a quienes nos acompañan por primera vez y reencontrarnos con quienes forman parte de esta comunidad desde hace años. Cada nuevo encuentro fortalece los vínculos entre América Latina, el mercado hispano de Estados Unidos y la industria internacional.

El jueves celebraremos la primera edición de la nueva MIP CANCUN Gala, en colaboración con ESTUDIOS RCN y MegaLive. Abierta a todos los participantes registrados, será una ocasión para celebrar a las personas, las alianzas y la creatividad que impulsan nuestra industria, con un showcase en vivo de Magic Juan.

Una comunidad sólida se construye gracias a la contribución de muchas personas. Agradezco a nuestros socios, patrocinadores, miembros del advisory board y a todo el equipo que ha trabajado para hacer posible esta edición. A quienes regresan, gracias por su confianza. A quienes se suman por primera vez, bienvenidos.

En nombre de todo el equipo de MIP CANCUN, les deseo un mercado lleno de buenas conversaciones, nuevas conexiones y oportunidades.

Maria Pérez-Bellière
Directora de MIP CANCUN

Welcome to MIP CANCUN 2026

One industry, new connections

The entertainment industry is changing: the ways we create, finance, produce, distribute and discover content are evolving, as is the range of professionals involved at every stage.

Content remains at the heart of our business, but its journey now connects buyers, distributors, producers, studios and platforms with brands, agencies, creators, digital businesses, and new financial and technology partners. Each brings a different perspective and new opportunities to collaborate.

MIP CANCUN brings this community together to share ideas, build meaningful connections and develop new business opportunities. We continue to focus on what defines us: a close-knit community, relevant meetings and conversations that help move the industry forward.

Bringing brands into the conversation

This year, we take an important step forward with BrandStory Hub, developed with Roadmap and Cave76. The programme connects brands, agencies, producers, creators and platforms to explore how partnerships with the entertainment industry can lead to new ideas, projects and business models.

The opening session, “Beyond the Deal: Turning Brands into Entertainment Partners,” will bring together executives from Publicis, Nestlé and Heineken to share their experience and discuss what brands look for in their collaborations with the industry.

One of the programme’s new highlights is “BrandFront: What Brands Want Next”, a format that puts brands centre stage. One by one, they will share what they are looking for, what inspires them, and the kinds of stories, ideas and partnerships they want to explore. It will give producers, creators, agencies and other industry professionals a direct insight into brand priorities and the chance to discover common ground.

New opportunities across the ecosystem

The MIP CANCUN programme also looks at changing audiences and business models. The Beyond Streaming Summit will explore topics including social video, digital platforms, vertical content, microdramas and monetisation.

The Co-Production Market will connect producers with platforms, commissioners and potential partners through meetings, Bootcamp sessions and masterclasses. The Scripted Pitch will showcase five projects selected from different territories and connect them with international industry professionals. The Leadership Summit will bring senior executives together to discuss the future of IP development, funding and monetisation.

These initiatives reflect an industry where opportunities can emerge at every stage of the value chain: from creating and developing an idea to financing, producing and distributing it, and connecting it with audiences.

A growing community

MIP CANCUN continues to welcome new voices and perspectives. This year, our international participants include a Japanese delegation representing ten broadcasters. We are delighted to welcome first-time attendees and reconnect with those who have been part of this community for many years. Every new encounter strengthens the ties between Latin America, the US Hispanic market and the international industry.

On Thursday, we will celebrate the first edition of the new MIP CANCUN Gala, in partnership with ESTUDIOS RCN and MegaLive. Open to all registered attendees, it will be an opportunity to celebrate the people, partnerships and creativity driving our industry, with a live showcase by Magic Juan.

A strong community is built through the contributions of many. I would like to thank our partners, sponsors, advisory board members and the entire team who have worked to make this edition possible. To those returning, thank you for your continued trust. To everyone joining us for the first time, welcome.

On behalf of the MIP CANCUN team, I wish you a market filled with valuable conversations, new connections and opportunities.
